JOB PRINTING [illegible] in the city [illegible] for [illegible]

LOCAL AND STATE NEWS.

A [illegible] Snow [illegible] we had a sudden snow squall. Fifteen minutes before it commenced the stars were as brilliant as ever the editor of the [illegible] could desire; but in a very short space of time the earth was [illegible] —could [illegible]. Like [illegible] it was soon over. Yesterday was a decidedly cold day, and we found nothing in the "melting mood" except [illegible]. At the time of this writing (late in the evening,) there are indications of more snow.

MORE [illegible].—Elias Gosling, one of the Provost Guard, was brought before the Mayor yesterday, charged with having stolen three knives from L. H. Adams. The case was fully proven, and Gosling having [illegible] the knives to Messrs. Kinsey & Ware. He was committed to jail, and the probability is that the flesh will be taken off him before [illegible]. It is a bad rule that does not work both ways. If he pleads [illegible] he may expect to be [illegible].

Are there any white men employed by negroes to buy provisions for them in our market for the purpose of speculation? If so, our city fathers may find it necessary to pass another ordinance. We have heard something [illegible] "authority" [illegible] whipping [illegible] trunk [illegible].

The story of the Salisbury Watchman, copied by us some days since, about a band of three hundred deserters and tories being at the Piedmont Springs, in Burke county, all turns out to be false. A letter from [illegible] represents all as being quiet in that section.

Brigadier General Bryan Grimes, of this State, has been made a Major General and assigned to the command of Rodes' Division, Ewell's old Corps. Gen. Grimes is a brave and accomplished officer and we record this promotion with much pleasure.

As some errors occurred in the Home Guard Law, as published by us yesterday, we will publish it again, corrected, to-morrow.

REMARKABLE.—No auction in town yesterday.

MORE OUTRAGES.—A letter from Chatham county, to the Conservative, says:

"A band of robbers, seven or eight in number, entered the house of Thos C. Dixon, who is in the service, last night (knowing no doubt that he was from home) and after leaving his helpless family, stripped of a large quantity of bed clothing, leather, jewelry and other valuables. They were supposed to be deserters, as they had army guns, canteens, &c. Mr. Dixon lives in the upper end of this county near the Alamance line in the Cane Creek neighborhood. Can't our authorities do something for us?"

Nothing can prevent these outrages but an efficient home organization in every county.

TELEGRAPHIC NEWS.

[Reported for the Press Association.]

[illegible]

RICHMOND, Feb. 9.—The Senate adjourned to-day immediately after the journal was read. In the House the Senate bill authorizing the appointment of a Commissary General, with the rank of Brig. General, passed.

During the consideration of the bill Mr. Baldwin remarked that as Chairman of the Committee [illegible], [illegible] engaged in [illegible] investigation, he and the whole Committee [illegible] that the present Commissary General had conducted the business of his office with a degree of system, energy and ability [illegible] by few officers.

Mr. [illegible] said if [illegible] could not command [illegible] was an indispensable qualification at this time, he should give way to some more fortunate person.

The tax bill was further considered.

Another War Meeting in Richmond.

RICHMOND, Feb. 9.—A great war meeting was held at the African Church to-day. The building was crowded an hour before the time fixed for the meeting. Thousands were unable to gain admittance. The assemblage was addressed in stirring speeches by Senator Hunter, Mr. Benjamin, Speaker [illegible], Delegates [illegible] and Gilmer, of North Carolina, when the meeting adjourned until 7 o'clock. Another important meeting was held at 3 o'clock in the Hall of the House of Delegates, which was addressed by Messrs. Goode, Funsten and Baldwin, of Virginia, and the Delegation in Congress.

The deportment of the people indicated full acceptance of the continuance of the war forced upon them by a refusal of Lincoln to negotiate for peace.

The following resolutions, submitted by Mr. [illegible], were heartily applauded.

Resolved, That events which have occurred during the progress of the war have but confirmed our original determination to strike for our independence, and that with the blessing of God we will never lay down our arms until it shall have been won.

Secondly, That as we believe our resources sufficient for the purpose, we do not doubt but that we shall conduct the war successfully, and that we hereby invoke the people, in the name of the Ruler of all events, to spare neither "blood nor treasure" in its maintenance and support.

Thirdly, That we tender our thanks to our soldiers in the field for their noble efforts in behalf of the country, its rights and liberties, and take this occasion to assure them that no effort of ours shall be spared to assist them in maintaining the great cause to which we hereby devote ourselves and our all.

A LAMENT IN THE NORTHERN LAND.

BY BAYARD TAYLOR.

Speed swiftly Night! wild Northern Night,
Whose feet the arctic islands know,
When stiffening breakers, sharp and white,
Gird the complaining shores of snow;
Send all thy winds to sweep the world,
And bow [illegible],
And hang thy banners, red and cold,
Against the shield of every star!

For what have I to do with morn,
Or summer's glory in the vales,
With the blithe ring of forest horn,
Or beckoning gleam of snowy sails?
Art thou not gone in whose blue eye
The fleeting summer dreamed to be?
Gone, like the echo of a sigh
Beside the loud resounding sea!

Oh, brief that time of song and flowers,
That blest through thee the Northern land!
I pine amidst its leafless bowers,
And on the bleak and lonely strand.
The forest wakes, the meadow blooms
Which yet shall [illegible],
But down my spirit's [illegible]
Thy love shall blossom nevermore.

And never more shall [illegible]
Their [illegible] stand for me;
Nor morning tinge the mountain lines,
Nor sunset flush the hoary sea.
But night and winter fill the sky,
And load with frost the shivering air,
Till every blast that hurries by
Chimes wilder with my own despair.

The leaden twilight, cold and long,
Is slowly settling o'er the wave;
No wandering blast awakes a song
In naked bows above thy grave.
The frozen air is still and dark,
The numb earth lies in icy rest;
And all is dead, save this one spark
Of burning grief within my breast.

Life's darkened orb shall wheel no more
To love's rejoicing summer bank;
My spirit walks a wintery shore,
With not a star to light its track.
Speed swifter, Night! thy gloom and frost
Are free to spoil and ravage here;
This last wild requiem for the lost
I pour in thy unheeding ear.

The Commissioners respectfully suggest that if it be found practical, the producer should be allowed to retain a fourth part of their surplus, to be sold at market rates, to pay for their necessary plantation supplies, which they have to purchase at high market prices. They earnestly call upon the farmers to bring forward their corn now so necessary to the support of the army in their immediate front, and which alone will prevent the loss to the enemy, of all their crops, stock, negroes, &c., &c. The commissioners would also recommend that the impressment should be universal and uniform, leaving out no one.

☞ Business Notice.—The expenses attending the publication of the PROGRESS are enormous and have to be paid promptly, and we must do a cash business or none at all. We must demand cash from all save those business men of the city who have accounts with the office, and parties at a distance are expected to remit promptly when bills are sent. We have no time to collect bills and don't want to make any charges. There never was a better time to pay debts than the present, and all who owe us are requested and expected to pay at once.
